

OP 91.102: DISCIPLINARILY SUSPENDED STUDENTS

Purpose

To clearly state the activities in which a student suspended disciplinarly from Mississippi State University may or may not participate.

Policy

A student disciplinarly suspended from Mississippi State University forfeits all rights and privileges afforded a student at this institution. This means that a disciplinarly suspended student is restricted from involvement in any academic or extracurricular activity at Mississippi State University.

Procedure

1. A disciplinarly suspended student may not:
 - a. Earn academic credit at Mississippi State University, accordingly a suspended student will be dropped from current rolls and may not audit classes;
 - b. Be involved or participate in campus organizations;
 - c. Live in a residence hall, a university-owned apartment, or fraternity or sorority house;
 - d. Participate in recreational sports or be involved in any recreational activity;
 - e. Use university recreational facilities;
 - f. Participate in intercollegiate athletics, including team practices, workouts, meetings, or public appearances; and
 - g. Be employed by the university.
2. A disciplinarly suspended student may:
 - a. Receive academic credit for special problems completed during the semester of suspension, if completed prior to the date of suspension; and
 - b. Visit the campus, unless specifically precluded by sanction or otherwise.

Review
